Opening comment

The next issue of our magazine is delivered to our readers. This time round, it contains mainly civilian studies related to the scientific project New legal regulations in order to facilitate the recovery of receivables headed by Prof. Mariusz Załucki and financed by the Scientific and Training Center operating at the National Bailiffs Council. We are exhilarated that the practice cooperates with science, as well as that we are involved in it.

The current issue of “Studies in Law” also includes other publications related to the realization of scientific projects financed from external sources, such as the publication of Prof. Jan Widacki and Marcin Gołaszewski, or a text by Monika Augustyniak, PhD. We invite you to read on and to further cooperation.
